The K-Plan Commonplace “helps make my seemingly disjointed experiences into one synthesized whole.”

– Kari Paine ’14

K-Plan Commonplace is an online resource designed for students and advisors to keep track of multiple aspects of a student’s life during college as an experiential transcript. Not just for tracking courses, the K-Plan Commonplace is used to document all components of the K-Plan: depth and breadth in liberal arts, learning through experience, international and intercultural engagement, and independent scholarship. You can record employment, community involvement, athletics, awards and scholarship, study abroad, as well as reflect upon all of these topics and more. By recording events and involvement through one’s time at K, a student can use it as an organized space to store information for tasks such as:

- Writing and revising a resume
- Applying to graduate or medical school
- Preparing for interviews
- Deciding on a major
- Completing an application for K leadership positions
- Setting the stage for life after K

K-Plan Commonplace helps strengthen and enrich the relationship between advisor and advisee by giving them a conversation-starter and a space for advisors to learn about the many facets of a student’s K career as a whole.

To begin exploring your K-Plan Commonplace, go to the Hornet Hive, select the ‘WebAdvisor for Students’ tab, and click on ‘Academic Profile’.
